Compilation and Preservation of the Qur'an

Muhammad Younus

Introduction

- The Qur'an — the final revelation and divine guidance for humanity.
- Allah Himself guaranteed its preservation:
  "Indeed, We sent down the Reminder, and indeed, We will be its Guardian." (15:9)
- The Qur'an's preservation is both a spiritual promise and a historical reality.

Revelation and Early Preservation

- Revealed over 23 years — in Makkah and Madinah.
- Twofold preservation:
  - Oral (Ḥifz) — Thousands of companions memorized it.
  - Written (Kitābah) — Recorded on parchment, bones, leather, and palm leaves.
- The Prophet ﷺ appointed official scribes of revelation (kuttāb al-waḥy), e.g.:
  - Zayd ibn Thābit, ʿUbayy ibn Kaʿb, ʿAlī ibn Abī Ṭālib.
- Verified annually with Angel Jibrīl — twice in the final year.

Compilation under Hazrat Abu Bakr (r.a.)

- Reason: Martyrdom of many ḥuffāẓ at the Battle of Yamāmah.
- Suggestion: Given by ʿUmar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb (r.a.) to Abu Bakr (r.a.).
- Committee Leader: Zayd ibn Thābit (r.a.).
- Collected from written pieces and memorized recitations, with witnesses.
- The compiled ṣuḥuf were kept with Abu Bakr → ʿUmar → Ḥafṣah (r.a.).

Standardization under Hazrat Uthman (r.a.)

- Expansion of Islam led to dialectal variations (ahruf).
- Hudhayfah ibn al-Yamān reported the concern.
- Uthman (r.a.) formed a committee:
  - Zayd ibn Thābit, ʿAbdullah ibn Zubayr, Saʿīd ibn al-ʿĀṣ, ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Ḥārith.
- Standardized text according to the Quraysh dialect.
- Multiple identical muṣḥafs sent to major cities (Makkah, Basra, Kufa, Damascus).
- All unofficial copies withdrawn to ensure unity.

Means of Preservation

- Oral Transmission (Tawātur):
  - Continuous memorization from the Prophet ﷺ to present day.
- Written Preservation:
  - Earliest manuscripts (Topkapi, Tashkent, Birmingham) match the Uthmanic text.
- Ijāzah System:
  - Certified reciters trace chains of transmission back to the Prophet ﷺ.

Common Doubts & Their Answers

Doubt / Objection	Scholarly Response
"Some verses were lost or abrogated."	Distinction between abrogation and loss; no text was lost.
"Uthman burned other Qur'ans."	Purpose: to unify dialects, not to destroy variations in meaning.
"Shi'i claim of missing verses."	Mainstream Shi'i scholars affirm full preservation.
"Different Qirāʾāt mean different Qur'ans."	Authentic variant readings from the Prophet — ﷺ no contradiction.
"Manuscript differences."	Only orthographic, not textual; core content identical.

The Miracle of Preservation

- The Qur'an's preservation combines divine will and human effort.
- No other scripture maintains such historical authenticity.
- Every generation has memorized and written the same text.
- Proof of Allah's promise and the Ummah's collective trust.
- "This is the Book about which there is no doubt, a guidance for the righteous." (2:2)

Discussion / Reflection

- Why is Qur'an's preservation essential for faith?
- How do modern discoveries reinforce Islamic tradition?
- What lessons can we learn about responsibility in transmitting knowledge?

Conclusion

- The Qur'an's compilation and preservation are unparalleled in human history.
- Through memory, manuscripts, and scholarship, it remains pure and unchanged.
- Its message continues to guide, unite, and inspire humanity.

Thank you
